Six Bodies Recovered-Long List of Injured-Many Persons Yet Unaccounted For.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECOED-UNION.]

VALLEJO, February 27th. - The ferry eamer Julia, which carries passengers and freight daily from North and South Vallejo to Valley Junction, connecting with the Southern Pacific trains, both ways, was Connolly, Mike Dolan. completely wrecked by the explosion of her boiler. About fifty passengers were aboard at the time, four of whom were reported to have been killed outright and many others injured, more or less seriously.

The disaster occurred at about 7 o'clock, when the boat was making her first trip this morning. She had left her moorings at South Vallejo as usual, at about 6 o'clock, and gone up to North Vallejo, where about thirty passengers were taken on board, many of whom were laborers employed at the Selby works and Nevada docks, near Vallejo Junction, while others were on their way to San Francisco, intending to board the down-coming Oregon express, which would land them in San Francisco about 8:30 o'clock. Leaving North Vallejo with her load, the vessel steamed back to South Vallejo, where more passengers were taken on. It was here that the explosion oc-curred, just as she was about to start for the

THE EXPLOSION. The steamer this morning, according to all accounts, took aboard twenty or thirty men at the upper wharf, and then went to South Vallejo wharf, reaching there about 6:10 o'clock. Here more passengers came aboard, making the total, as near as can be estimated when pilot Heath gave the signal for loosing moorings, between fifty and aboard the steamer. He heard the bell from the pilot-house sound for the engines to be started, and then heard the first whistle usually blown just before heading out into the stream. He was just about to ascend the stairs to reach the upper deck and go thence to the pilot-house, when the explosion occurred. He says he felt the shock, and then everything seemed darkened. He reached out his hand and turned up his coat-collar, and that is all he recollects. He was found there afterward, prostrate, covered with a large resolution of the engines and one empty car were burned. Nine bodies have been recovered. Among those missing or killed are: James Rule, Ed Rule, Walter Larnar, M. J. Hodgkins, Andrew Minahan, Tom Kane, Olef Oleson, William Connolly, Michael Braniey, John Compton, R. C. Alexander, E. M. Because of the disaster the down train a short time also until the steamer Ellen, that plys between the navy yard and Valejo, was sent to take the place of the Julia, and convey the passengers to Valleio June tion. There connection was made with the overland, which reached San Francisco about 11 o'clock. The first report that reached town was that the explosion had curred during the morning trip, with the south-bound Napa vailey passengers. Had this been the case the loss of life would, doubtless, have been much greater.

Captain Gedge is widely known. He is between seventy and eighty years of age, and has been in the railroad company's employ for a long time. His escape from death is regarded as almost miraculous. Captain Gustav Niebaum, of the Alaska mercial Company, came down on the Napa train as far as South Vallejo, when, hearing of the accident, he returned directly to his home near St. Helena, that the anxiety of his friends and of his family might

ANOTHER ACCOUNT. This morning there happened the most terrible fatality in the history of Vallejo. About 6:10, just after the whistle had blown to signal the departure of the steamer Julia from South Vallejo wharf, on her first trip, and before she had got loose from her moorings, a terrible explosion occurred, racking the vessel through its whole extent and filling the air with thick volumes of smoke.

The early trip takes all the workmen living on the Vallejo side to their work in various industries on the Contra Costa ide, also those going to San Francisco; consequently there were a great many pas-sengers on board. The morning being cool, most of them had gathered about the warm smokestack in the lower cabin. As the explosion came from the boiler these men were directly exposed to a terrible shock. Besides this the petroleum used for fuel was scattered through the steamer, setting it on fire. There was terrible confusion and heart-rending cries from the crushed and burn-ing men. The force of the explosion is shown on a body that was dragged out of the wreck by Constable Longan without head or limbs, utterly unrecognizable. The burning steamer set fire to the wharf and for hours the flames held sway until the boat was burned to the water's edge. As far as can be learned eight or ten are killed or missing and many badly injured. ANOTHER LIST.

Up to 6 o'clock this evening the bodies of six men have been recovered. A gang of railroad men are now at work clearing away the upper deck, as it was known there were many persons between the decks. THE CAUSE OF THE EXPLOSION.

VALLEJO, February 27th .- The impre on conveyed that the accident to the steamer Julia was caused by the explosio f a petroleum valve is entirely erroneous. The accident was caused by the explosion f the boiler. Crude petroleum was used or fuel, and it is supposed that it had ourned a weak spot in the boiler, which esulted in the explosion.

RANDALL'S BILL

A Revenue Reform Bill that May Suit Republicans.

Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press. Washington, February 27th.—Randall has completed his tariff bill, which he will send to the Ways and Means Committee this week. A reduction of between $75,-000,000 and $80,000,000 will be effected, of which $60,000,000 will be from internal revenue. He proposes to reduce the tax on whisky from 90 cents to 50 cents a gallon; also, to repeal the tax on manufactured tobacco and alcohol used in the arts; also, a reduction in the customs revenue of about $20,000,000 or $25,000,000. This will take in the medicine circle. In the event that the Ways and Means Com-mittee refuses to consider this measure, Mr. Randall will give this bill as a subst nte for the committee bill when it come nto the House, and he believes that he will be able to secure a majority.

THE GREAT STRIKE ON THE BURLINGTON ROAD.

All Freight Trains Abandoned, But Passenger Trains Moving-Everything Quiet.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

CHICAGO, February 27th .- A few minates before 4 o'clock this morning the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy yards at Canal and Sixteenth streets presented their usual appearance. The early morning mail train had left on time, and the switch back to the round-house. Other engineers of switch engines also said they had not

At 4 o'clock precisely switch engine 447 went into the Western avenue round-house. Three others soon followed, and the en-gineers and firemen quit work. The strike was on in earnest. AT THE DENVER END. DENVER, February 27th.-There is nothing new in the situation of the Burlington as previously stated. All the engineers and firemen left their engines promptly at 4 o'clock this morning and quit work, since when not a wheel has been turned on the road for freight or passenger traffic. THE SITUATION IN ST. LOUIS. St. Louis, February 27th.-No freight moved on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road at this point to-day. Passenger trains, however, in this vicinity, run as sual. QUARANTINE GROUNDS.

The following is telegraphed: The following is telegraphed:

Representative Morrow called upon the supervising Surgeon-General of the Marine-Hospital Service this morning. The Supervising Surgeon is authorized under the law to render assistance to local officers in charge of quarantine stations in preventing the introduction of contagious diseases in the United States. He informed Mr. Morrow that if the State Board of Health, through the Governor of California, asked his assistance he would do all in his power to enforce the quarantine. He is authorized to detail officers in case of an emergency and also to provide a temporary quarantine. Mr. Morrow is of the opinion that a national quarantine office should be established in San Francisco, and on Monday he proposes to introduce a bill in the House similar to the one introduced in the Senate by Stanford, creating a national quarantine station at San Francisco. That is well and we trust Mr. Morrow will succeed, but there is a bit of history connected with this matter that must not be forgotten. It will be observed that the Surgeon-General says he can provide a temporary quarantine and can give local authorities aid. He meant thereby to have it distinctly understood that until California acts in the proper manner no permanent station is likely to be located. Some six years ago the Federal Government was anxious to locate a permanent quarantine station on San Francisco Bay. The State Board of Health was even more solicitous to have it done. The Legislature authorized that body to act in an advisory capacity with the Federal authorities. Accordingly the Snrgeon-General of the United States and the War and Naval Departments-we believe-and the California State Board of Health took steps to secure a site, and, as we remember it, an officer was sent here from Washington for the purpose. Two sites were agreed upon But when the State Board, four years ago, reported the selections to the Legislature, and pointed out that it was necessary for the State Government to act promptly and in connection with the Federal, the Legislature was set upon by the San Francisco press and told that it must do nothing, and it obeyed. Two years ago the Board renewed its effort, and again the Legislature refused to act, being influenced by the misrepresentations of the San Francisco journals. Thereupon the Federal authorities withdrew in disgust, and reported to their departments that California declined to act with the Government, and expressed the opinion that California was acting very foolishly in the matter. The State and Federal reports show these to be the foot of th the facts. The objection raised by the San Francisco press to action being taken and expenditure made was that a quarantine station would be a landing place for Chinese, and therefore a means for evasion of the Restriction Act This, and nothing more, was all that was urged against the measure. Two Governors of California in recent bienial messages have called the attention of the Legislature to the great need for quarantine grounds and hospitals, and to the inhumanity of keeping passengers together upon infected ships, and the almost impossible task of preventing the spread of contagious diseases by such a policy. The State Board of Health has most emphatically and in language severe and industriously urgent, presented the matter to the Legislature, and still we have no quarantine grounds, nor will we have any premanently and properly appointed until ignorance in San Francisco is "got under" by intelligence. We recall the fact that when the bills referred to were before the Legislature appeals by the Board of Health to the correspondents to properly represent the matter and to urge them to advocate quarantine establishment in their journals received no attention or flat refusal. The Legislatures were too timid to act independently of the San Francisco delegation and that body was under cow of the San Francisco press. It is for these reasons that we have now no quarantine grounds. Probably the admirable grounds originally selected by the Federal and State authorities cannot now be had, except at enormous cost. Others must, therefore, be selected,

POLICE COURT.

Days in the County Jail. Yesterday an unusually large crowd gath. ered in the Police Court, took possession of the lobby and jury chairs to hear judgment pronounced on Henry A. Caulfield. J. W. Ramage, the defendant's attorney, asked for a new trial on account of the remarks made by Judge McKune, the prosecuting witness, the other day in Court.

This was denied, and the Court asked defendant if he was ready for sentence. He for March was submitted. Mr. Martin replied that he was. After reviewing the facts of the case the Judge imposed a fine of $40, or in default, forty days in the County Jail. Judge McKune then arose, and, after reading a section of the Penal bond was placed of $300.

Before Court ex-Justice Henley, J. H.
Sullivan and Ralph McKune, parties who have a peculiar interest in the case, had their "guns' taken away from them.

Coulfield who was also arread with a den. Caulfield, who was also armed with a dan- sert the following:

ceeded as follows: "Sister and I," by Fannie Sinay (in costume); "Battle of Ivry," Paul Maslin; "The Inventor's wife," Lucy Diefen; dorf (in costume); "Jamie," by Daisy Was-serman; "Asleep at the Switch," by Grace Craw. Mr. Eastman then gave a very effective reading of "The Raven." In many respects it differed from most other readings of Poe's familiar poem, but did not lose merit by comparison. It was given with a good deal of dramatic effect, and the stage-setting was made to contribute to that end. In response to an encore he gave three imitations of drunken men. These were dramatically accurate and painfully lifelike, but they in no wise served to demon-strate reading ability. Almost any substi-tute would have been better, even if less amusing. The old-time farce, "A Quiet Family," was then played—Paul Masiin, George Bovyer, Arthur Goodbue, Charle Harrison, Grace Craw, Hattie Williamson Lillie Wallace and Daisy Wasserman assuming the characters. It was played very much better than any one expected. It is an old Egyish farce that has com-manded some of the best low comedy talent of the stage for twenty-five years, and that youths should do so well i it is creditable alike to their native ability and the skill of their instructor. A com mittee of five persons, strangers to the contestants and not named before the au ience, reported to the teacher these award which Mr. Eastman made: A silver medal to Fannie Sinay, a copy of Shakespeare's works to Lillie Wallace, Tennyson's poems to Daisy Wasserman. Not knowing what degree of excellence or lack of training in eading characterized the class prior to Mr. Eastman taking it in charge, it is impossible to say what progress it has mad under his tuition. The pupils, however gave a creditable exhibition, read with dis ctness, emphasized-in the main-correctly, and were observant of most of the rules governing good readers, but of course

Elocution Entertainment.

An entertainment was given by one of the classes of H. C. Eastman, teacher of elocution, at the Metropolitan Theater. A very large audience was in attendance. The entertainment opened—after an overture by the orchestra—with a class recitation, "Charge of the Light Brigade," by a class so large as to nearly fill the stage. Then followed these recitations: "Legend of the Organ Builder," Maud Jones; "Order for a Picture," Lillie Wallace; "Jamie Douglass," Edna Johnson. A vocal solo by Gertie Van Tassell, varied the exercises at this point, after which recitations proceeded as follows: "Sister and I," by Fannie Sinav, (in costume): "Sayle of twe?" Pannie Sinav, (in costume): "Sister and I," by Fannie Sinav, (in costume): "Sayle of twe?" Pannie Sinav, (in costume): "Sister and I," by Fannie Sinav, (in costume): "Sayle of twe?" Mr. Todd called up the question of the salary of the janitor for the Capital Gram-mar School, and said he demanded more pay. Mr. Hopkins opposed any increase, upon the ground that the pay was already greater than the price paid in San Francisco and elsewhere for the same amount of work. Other members discussed the matter, after which it was unceremoniously dropped.

SACRAMENTO, February 25, 1888.

Brigadier-General R. H. Orton, Adjudant-General of California—Sir: I wish to call your attention at this early day to the fact that the Codes now require but one parade of the military forces of this State in full uniform in each year—viz: that on the 4th day of July. I desire, therefore, that the forthcoming 112th anniversary of our independence shall be observed in a fitting manner, and that portion of the law complied with. You will, therefor, issue orders to that effect, and direct that the different military organizations parade in their respective localities, and that the troops comprising the Second Brigade, or at least so much of it as is located in San Francisco, parade in that city. LOCKED ENGINES.

Collision Between a Freight Train and Locomotive at Merced.

Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press. MERCED, February 27th .- A collision occurred here nearly in front of the El Capitan Hotel between engine No. 202, drawing Capital $500,000 a special freight train bound north and running at a high rate of speed, and engine No. 21, southbound and standing detached on a sidetrack. The pilots came together, staving in the headlights. The accident was caused through the carelessness of a brakeman belonging to the southbound train, who left the switch open and at the same time signaled No. 202 to advance.

The fireman of No. 21 was under the engine oiling up. The engineer dared not move his engine, and kept at his post, knowing the danger to his fireman, who Railway Robbers.

Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press 1 Tucson, February 27th.—The posse in Valley Railroad in regard to bringing the pursuit of the Stein's Pass robbers was last heard from at Hearst's Ranch, in Las Animas Valley, to which point it had trailed them on Friday. The Papago Indians held the trail over the mountains and through a rocky canyon, never once losing it. The of an unknown Italian was found yesterday posse, on ascending the Simon Range, on in a log cabin near Guerneville. It is sup the second day out, picked up a sealed package addressed to the Auditor of the Southern Pacific Railrood and marked to contain $1,180. At Hearst's Ranch the posse were only eight hours behind the robbers, who were heading across Las Animas Valley, leading their horses, which the trailers report badly fagged out. The trail led into Sonora.

or had a fight with the robbers. Sherifi Shaw and Shibell, and United States Marshal Meade, with Deputy Smith, Len Harris and four Papago Indian trailers, are the pursuing posse.

[Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press. Fresno, February 27th. - To-day the Tilly mine, situated in the footbills of this unty, which has been idle for over four years, was suddenly reopened and new isting machinery is already on the road to the mine and will be put in. Several weeks ago a mining expert visited the property and spent about a week in the mine, but left without disclosing his disvein, and a big syndicate has been formed to work it. No one knows who composes the company, and admittance to the mine is posittvely refused. Mining circles are considerably excited over it.

by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific. It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it; is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a mod erate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. IT NaVER FAILS. The system once impregnated with the Specific it becomes an utter impressi ility for the liquor appetite to exist. For sale
